II. Catalog Description

Compensation and benefits management as an integrating human resource management process. Development and administration of equitable compensation and benefit programs. Job analysis and evaluation, pay structures, salary surveys, individual compensation, incentive, systems and benefits administration. Discussion, cases and simulations. Letter grade only (A-F).

III. Curriculum Justifications

The goal of this course is to increase student knowledge and comprehension about the compensation function (including employee benefits). This course is aligned with the general CBA learning goals of critical thinking and the management-specific learning goals of business functions and quantitative and technical skills.

IV. Course Objectives

Critical thinking: Students will be able to demonstrate conceptual learning, critical thinking, and problem-solving skills.
The student will be able to analyze, integrate, and apply the knowledge to solve compensation related problems in organizations. They will understand the strategic importance of compensation to achievement of organizational goals.

Quantitative & Technical Skills: Students will possess quantitative and technological skills enabling them to analyze and interpret business data and to improve business performance.

Be able to use techniques (including quantitative technical skills) for determining employee pay and benefit systems.

Business Functions: Students will demonstrate understanding of all business functions, practices and related theories and be able to integrate this functional knowledge in order to address business problems.

Upon completion, the student should be able to recognize how pay decisions help the organization achieve a competitive advantage. The student will demonstrate comprehension by constructing a compensation system encompassing (for example); 1) internal consistency, 2) external competitiveness 3) employee contributions, 4) organizational benefit systems, and 5) administration issues.
