Chip Espinoza, Ph.D.

Academic Director, Organizational Psychology
Concordia University Irvine

Dr. Chip Espinoza is the co-author of Millennials Who Manage: How To Overcome Workplace Perceptions and Become A Great Leader, Millennials@Work: The 7 Skills Every Twenty-Something Needs to Overcome Roadblocks and Achieve Greatness at Work, and Managing the Millennials: Discover the Core Competencies for Managing Today’s Workforce. He is also the Academic Director of the Organizational Psychology and Nonprofit Leadership programs at Concordia University Irvine.

Chip keynotes internationally and across the country on how to create an environment in which managers and millennials can thrive. He is a leading expert on the subject of generational diversity in the workplace. Chip consults in the civic, corporate, and nonprofit sectors. His client list features great organizations like The Boeing Company, Microsoft, Schneider Electric, and Special Olympics.

Chip has authored several articles on the subject of leadership and is the go-to person for news agencies on the topic of integrating younger workers into organizations. He is a content expert for CNN on the subject of generational diversity in the workplace. He has also been featured on Fox News, CBS Radio, and in major publications. Chip was named a top 15 Global Thought Leader on the Future of Work by the Economic Times.