

First Aid Kit Policy

April, 2014

Background: The CNSM has provided OSHA/ANSI compliant first aid kits for use in assisting with minor injuries. Kits are to be used in accordance with the following policies:

1. Each office/work area shall designate one individual to monitor usage of the kit and component expiration dates, replenish used items, etc. Expired items should be discarded appropriately and promptly replenished.
2. Each kit shall bear a campus label (sample provided below) completed with the curator's name and contact information.
3. Prior to using items from the kit, individuals should familiarize themselves with the appropriate procedures, usage recommendations, etc. Most kits typically include a basic first aid guide. Expired or damaged items should not be used.
4. First aid kit materials shall not include any medications that can be ingested such as aspirin.
5. An injured individual must ask for or give consent to receive assistance (i.e. with the placement of a bandage). Following treatment, an individual should be referred to professional medical care as appropriate in accordance with CNSM policy.

Any questions or issues can be directed to the kit curator in your area or to the Safety Office at 5-5623.
