ABOUT JOHANNES MÜLLER-STOSCH
Johannes Müller-Stosch is the Music Director and Conductor of the Cole Conservatory Orchestra and coordinator of String Studies. He is also the Music Director and Conductor of the Holland Symphony Orchestra in Michigan. He received his Doctorate from the Eastman School of Music where he served as Assistant Conductor for the Eastman Philharmonia Orchestra. He has been Music Director of the Brockport Symphony (New York), Tri State Players (Ohio), Conducting Assistant at the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, and served repeatedly on the conducting and coaching staff at the Opera Theatre Festival in Lucca, Italy. A tour with the Eastman String Orchestra took Müller-Stosch to Japan where he conducted concerts as part of Hiroshima's 2005 Peace Festival. He received acclaim for his doctoral project and concert with the Eastman Philharmonia, which surveyed all four symphonies by Franz Schmidt.

He received two Master of Music degrees in organ performance and orchestral conducting from the Cincinnati College-Conservatory of Music. Concert tours as soloist and collaborative artist have included Germany, Italy, Chile, and Japan. His most recent CD celebrating the renovation of Twelve Corners Presbyterian Church's Casavant Frères organ (Rochester, NY) has been featured on NPR's With Heart and Voice. His principal teachers were Neil Varon (Eastman School) and Mark Gibson (College-Conservatory).

ABOUT BRANDON FABER
Brandon Faber, Graduate Assistant Conductor for the University Symphony at the Cole Conservatory currently studies orchestral conducting with Johannes Müller-Stosch at CSULB and recently began an internship as conducting assistant at Long Beach Symphony Orchestra under Music Director Enrique Diemecke. Born in Michigan, Brandon is a 2007 graduate from Kalamazoo College where he completed his bachelors in music and psychology. There he studied conducting with Andrew Kohler and piano with Leslie Tung. Brandon has also studied with John Ellis at the University of Michigan and Alan Huckleberry at the University of Iowa. Devoted to the study and practice of education in addition to performance, Brandon has guest lectured on education at Kalamazoo College, advised on curricular development for continuing education programs, and continues to focuses on merging the disciplines of music performance, psychology, and education. Brandon has guest conducted and taught at high schools throughout Michigan as well as taught and performed at the Leysin American School in Switzerland in 2008 and 2009.
