

POLICY STATEMENT APPROVEDEXPERIMENTAL COURSESRevised Statement for Inclusion in Faculty Handbook*

1. Experimental courses may not be used to fulfill General Education requirements, except for those courses which have been approved for this purpose, individually, by the School(s) offering such courses, and so designated in the Supplementary Bulletin and the Schedule of Classes.
 2. Experimental courses may or may not be used to fulfill requirements for majors or minors as determined by the appropriate body or bodies within the School in which the majors and minors fall.
 3. The student shall be permitted to count no more than 12 units of experimental courses credit in the total of 124 for graduation. Classes taken as experimental which have subsequently been approved as regular curricular offerings will be excluded from this limitation, if in the transition from experimental to regular course status there has been no change in content, method of instruction or unit value, as determined by the curriculum committee of the appropriate School.
 4. Courses taken as experimental courses which are subsequently approved as regular curricular offerings will remain on the student's permanent record with the E following the course number.
