Incorporated in 1998, the Central Valley Health Network (CVHN) is a consortium of 13 Federally Qualified Health Center (FQHC) corporations that provide comprehensive preventative primary care services to low-income and medically underserve families throughout California’s Central Valley.

CVHN’s mission is to advocate for community health centers’ strength in the marketplace and to support members’ effective delivery of high quality and accessible health care. We provide members with a range of services, including advocacy training, technical assistance, resource development, and program administration. CVHN also supports health centers through its Central Valley Value in Purchasing (VIP) program that significantly trims health center costs by leveraging their collective purchasing power.

CVHN is the largest network of its kind focused solely on advocacy for FQHCs. Serving more than 500,000 patients annually in more than 100 community health center sites across 19 counties. In total, CVHN members provide 2.3 million patient encounters each year.

Our members play a vital role in providing access to primary care to low-income families throughout the Central Valley. In many communities, CVHN members offer local residents the only access to health care services. Seventy-seven percent of the patients served by CVHN members are at or below 100% of the federal poverty level, 49% are on Medi-Cal, and 35% are uninsured. Of these patients, 74% are Latino and 40% are farm workers.
