Dr. Victor Wang

Professional Studies

Dr. Victor C. X. Wang joined the faculty at CSULB in 2002 and has been the Professional Studies Department's credential coordinator of Career and Technical Education and adult education since 2005.

Dr. Wang's research and writing activities have focused on workforce education, the foundations of adult education, adult teaching and learning, training, transformative learning, cultural issues in vocational and adult education, distance education, human performance technology, and curriculum development. He has published well over 80 journal articles, book chapters and books during his seven years at CSULB and has been a reviewer for four national and international journals.

He serves as the editor-in-chief of the International Journal of Adult Vocational Education and Technology. He has won many academic achievement awards from universities in China and in the United States.

Dr. Wang taught extensively as a professor in Chinese universities prior to coming to study and work in the United States in 1997. He has taught adult learners English as a second language, Chinese, computer technology, vocational and adult education courses, research methods, administrative leadership, human resource management, and curriculum development for the past 20 years in university settings.

Two of the books he has written and edited have been adopted as required textbooks by major universities in the United States, Saudi Arabia, and in China. In addition, numerous university libraries worldwide have cataloged his books and articles.
